

Naloxone Wholesalers

Information compiled with gratitude from posts on OSNN

- the Opioid Safety and Naloxone Network-

Naloxone Intranasal Kits (Complete Overdose Rescue Kits)

For organizations that can afford to buy nasal, or first responders/LEO agencies that are looking at where to buy, there are a some pre-packaged kits available at a few different companies. This is a bit easier than buying all the components from different companies, and the cost is the about the same, plus it comes all put together.

McKesson (in the range of $55 per kit, x2 MAD and x2 naloxone luer-lock syringes, blue zippered pouch with the “Overdose Prevention Rescue Kit” on the pouch in English and Spanish) contact Ron Krantzman at Ron.Krantzman@mckesson.com

AAA Community Surgical can sell and ship to Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey only: <http://www.aaacommunitysurgical.com/#!shop/c1ylq/2246750951/narcan-rescue-kit> about $54 a kit, comes in a hard plastic case.

Emergency Medical Products: only have single-dose kits right now (maybe ok for EMS or first responders?) but have some pricey but cool storage bags, also geared towards EMS/first responders: <http://www.buyemp.com/search?sSearch=naloxone&x=0&y=0>

Mountainside Medical: Super expensive single-dose kit, also geared towards first responders: <http://www.mountainside-medical.com/naloxone-first-responder-kit.html?gclid=CO7uy-brMECFUKCMgodeVEALw> and a $54 two-dose kit <http://www.mountainside-medical.com/naloxone-opioid-overdose-rescue-kit-blue.html?gclid=CL7ulZfcrMECFcRAMgodZ2wABw> –Eliza Wheeler

Kaleo Pharmaceuticals- Evzio Autoinjector

www.evzio.com

1-855-77-EVZIO

Easiest to use, new product as of April, 2014. Gives audio instructions on overdose reversal, has a retracted needle to almost eliminate needle stick risk, no assembly required.

~$700 out of pocket, currently covered by some Medicaid, Blue Cross Blue Shield

Plans.

Contact Evzio about discounts

Amphastar Intranasal Naloxone

www.amphastar.com

There's a lot of variation in what people were/are paying. Here are typical examples:

- $21.18 per dose to $34.65 per dose (NYC) -- this is actually not from the survey, but what the NYC DOHMH quoted to me over email.
- $18.80/dose increased to $28.30/dose (Dayton, Ohio)
- $16.00 to $39.80 (Baltimore, MD)
- $13.75 to $29.90 (Santa Fe, NM)
- $20 to $56.25 (Wider, KY)
- $13.90 to $30.03 (Kent, WA)
- $11 to $30 (Salt Lake City, UT)" – Matt Curtis